WELCOME TO

The Guy of Warwick Pub & Kitchen. An old and historic pub with many a tale to tell, we invite you to our revamped kitchen where Warwick's only steakhouse will offer locally sourced gourmet burgers, steak cooked exactly to your liking and seasonal salads. Having successfully retained the exquisite chef from Jambavan, the kitchen is able to continue to delight both existing and new customers with our favourite mouthwatering, authentic curries. And for those of you who can't decide which curry to choose – why not sample our Tiffin box, a little bit of something to tickle those taste buds.

Our lovely food can be washed down with real ales, the finest lagers, not to mention one of the best selection of gins and fine wines in town. Well, we think so anyway.

Our strategic collaboration with the 'Guy of Warwick Society' seeks to immerse both locals and visitors in the rich tapestry of Warwick's past, celebrating the legendary figure of Guy of Warwick.

In our cellar, the underground tunnels lead to the heart of the castle where legends were once born. So, come on in, pull up a chair, make yourself cosy; grab a pint and a bite and let us take you back in time...

Guy of Warwick is one of those figures, like Robin Hood and King Arthur, whose existence is perhaps more legend than history. But who knows. Either way his story is firmly rooted in Warwick and our surrounding areas. He probably even trod the same path as you did today.

Legend has it (and please note there are many embellishments to this story) Guy of Warwick was a 10th-century English hero who travelled the world on a series of daring adventures to impress the Earl of Warwick's daughter – Lady Felice – and win her hand in marriage. Guy was a humble cupbearer, at the court of Earl of Warwick and when declared his love for Felice, he was rejected for being too 'low-born'. So, what is a man supposed to do. He had to go out and prove himself worthy of her.

So off brave Guy went... First, he saved an innocent woman from being put to death for a crime she didn't commit. Next, he defeated a monster that was terrorising the Warwickshire landscape – a ginormous cow known as the 'Dun Cow'! But Guy's toughest test was when he faced a terrifying fire-breathing dragon, slaying it with his sword and becoming a hero!

Finally, Guy had earned Lady Felice's hand in marriage. They were married and lived happily. But only for a time. During the years that followed, Guy began to feel remorse for his violent past, and decided to take a holy pilgrimage to Jerusalem. On his return to England, he heroically helped to save the country from the ferocious invading Vikings!

Exhausted and ill, Guy took refuge by the banks of the river Avon in Warwick and sent word of his return to Felice in the form of a golden ring. Sadly, Guy died and the heartbroken Felice died shortly afterwards. But as legend has it, in death, the couple were finally reunited, forever.
